The United Daughters of the Confederacy, organized in Nashville, Tennessee, September 10, 1894, by Mrs. Caroline M. Goodlett of Nashville and Mrs. Anna D. Raines of Georgia, is the outgrowth of many memorials, monuments, associations and auxiliaries honoring Confederate Veterans after the War Between the States. The UDC is the oldest patriotic organization in the United States. The objectives of the organization are historical, benevolent, educational, memorial and patriotic in nature. These objectives serve to:

1. Honor the memory of those who served and those who fell in the service of the Confederate States;
2. Protect, preserve and mark the places made historic by Confederate valor;
3. Collect and preserve the material for a truthful history of the War Between the States;
4. Record the part taken by Southern Women in patient endurance of hardship and patriotic devotion during the struggle, and in untiring efforts after the war during the reconstruction of the South;
5. Fulfill the sacred duty of benevolence toward the survivors and toward those dependent upon them;
6. Assist descendants of worthy Confederates in securing proper education; and,
7. Cherish the ties of friendship among the members of the Organization.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy was organized by a group of patriotic women who gave their time, their talents and their means to serve with no thought of compensation beyond the feeling of duty well done. In war and peace, the UDC yields to none in its devotion, its patriotic service and its loyalty to our beloved Southland and the United States of America.
